Course Description:

An examination of the economic forces associated with trade in food and agricultural products between the United States and other countries. Economics principles and analytical techniques are applied to international trade and multi-national markets. Consideration is also given to international commercial policy as it relates to agriculture and international economic integration.

Format:

This course is intended to provide a senior-level capstone experience for students pursuing the International Food and Resource Economics specialization within the major. As such, the course will be taught with the assumption that students are highly motivated, diligent, and have a level of economic sophistication expected of a senior within the major. The course culminates with the completion of a comprehensive, integrated research paper (this project is required for all students).

Because AEB 4242 is an analytical course, it will be delivered via traditional lectures. Theories and frameworks will be presented in class and we will discuss their derivations as well as applications to the 'real world.' Quantitative reasoning and analytical methods are used extensively. Therefore, knowledge of economic principles and concepts is necessary. Keeping up with international news, particularly economic news, is imperative in this course.

This course will proceed at a fairly rapid pace, so it is expected that students will complete textbook and handout reading assignments before class. In addition, the class is designed such that class participation (not just attendance but active participation) and individual study and preparation outside of class are necessary for learning and performing well in the exams. While lectures will cover the major points of assigned readings, students are required to read and understand all assigned readings.

Course Objectives:

This course focuses on issues relating to agricultural trade, international trade policy, globalization, economic development, and political economy. The course will equip students with the tools necessary to analyze the impacts of agricultural policies on agricultural consumers and producers, agribusiness firms, taxpayers, and international trade. The course focuses on U.S. and international agricultural policies. Thus, after successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

- 1) Analyze past, current, and proposed agricultural policies effects on international trade.
- 2) Understand and explain major international organizations that influence the formation of agricultural domestic support and trade policies.
- 3) Explain the key international trade agreements that influence agricultural trade policies.
- 4) Explain why international agricultural trade is often regulated.
- 5) Analyze the interaction between economic and social goals, and evaluate the ability of agricultural policies to accomplish these goals.
- 6) Relate international economic events to the operations of agribusiness firms.

These objectives are accomplished by developing an understanding of

- the economic foundations governing the analysis of international trade
- the nature (and shortcomings) of trade theories for international commerce
- the insights gained from the classical model of international trade
- the insights gained from the neo-classical model of international trade
- the effects of international trade on an economy
- the determinants of trade patterns between nations
- the determination of prices in international markets
- the gains from international trade

- the winners and losers from international trade
- the interaction and interdependence of national economies
- the dynamics of international factor movements
- the economic analysis of agricultural trade policy
- the arguments for and against protectionism
- the motivation behind enacting agricultural trade agreements and treaties
- the process and implications of international economic integration
- the roles of the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, and the World Trade Organization in the global economy

Attendance Policy:

Students are expected to attend all classes. Regular and punctual attendance at all classes is the responsibility of each student. In the event of an absence, it is the responsibility of the student to make-up any resulting deficiencies.

The class will be informed in advance if an alternative instructor will teach the class. In the case for which no advance arrangement has been made and an instructor is absent, students are authorized to leave after a 10-minute wait.

Grading:

Mid-Exams	20%
Final Exam	60%
Research paper	20%
Total	100%

Mid-term Exams:

There will be two mid-term exams. The exams will consist of short-answer questions.

- Tuesday, October 9, 2018, 11:45 AM to 1:40 PM
- Tuesday, November 6, 2018, 11:45 AM to 1:40 PM

Final Exam:

A mandatory cumulative final exam will be given during the scheduled final examination period. Exam will consist of short-answer questions.

- Final Exam: Thursday, December 13, 2018, 5:30 PM to 7:30 PM

Closed Book Exams:

All exams are closed book and closed notes. No formula sheets or any other aids are allowed. No cell phones, touch screen devices, tablets, laptops, or other devices with the capability to store information or access the internet will be allowed.

Exam Day Policy:

All students are expected to be on time to exams. Please arrive early, if possible, to get seated and to stow away your books/bags so that the exam can start at the stated time.

Make-up Exams:

- Make-up exams will not be given (unless documented official university athlete event).
- University athletes are allowed make-up exams missed due to official university sporting events pending ample WRITTEN notification in advance (at least 7 days before a scheduled exam). Club/recreational sports are not granted the same courtesy.
- Individuals absent from any exam will receive a score of zero (0) on that exam unless there is valid documented excuse for missing the exam (see bulleted items below).
- In order to be excused from an exam, you must notify the instructor in advance and secure instructor's permission. The only acceptable reasons to request an excuse are as follows:
 - Personal medical emergency (ordinary doctor's visit is unacceptable) that renders the student medically unable to take the test (proper valid documentation will be required).
 - Eligible personal or professional commitment elsewhere during class (eligibility depends on instructor's judgment, and hence prior permission is a must).
 - Family emergency (proper documentation will be required from Dean of Students).
- If a student is unexcused from the mid-term exam, the final exam will count in its place.
- No student will be excused from more than one exam.

Check exam dates in this course syllabus, and plan your semester accordingly.

Class Participation

In addition to class attendance, students are expected to actively participate in class. It is each student's responsibility to come to class prepared.

Research Paper:

Each student will be required to complete a (double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman font, one-inch margins throughout) research paper on an agricultural international trade topic of his/her choice. The paper must be properly referenced and cited and must relate to the topics covered in class. Students are encouraged to use numerical data in analyzing their topic. Citations should include only credible sources (no Wikipedia or other open source websites or blogs), and should be correctly cited. The research paper is due no later than Tuesday, December 11th. Late papers will not be accepted. Students are encouraged to submit completed projects in advance.

The purpose of this paper is to display your mastery of the material covered in this course and to demonstrate how well you can synthesize these concepts via an independent research paper. Students are welcomed to take an interdisciplinary approach to their topic by incorporating concepts from other Food and Resource Economics courses into their paper and relating these concepts to this course.

Students must schedule an appointment to meet with the instructor to select a topic. There should be only one student assigned per topic—these papers are individual assignments; thus, once a topic is taken, no other student in the class can pursue the same topic. It is entirely at the instructor's discretion to determine whether a proposed topic is proper for the assignment. Details and guidelines will be provided in class. Past topics have included WTO Canadian Dairy Dispute; Brazilian Cotton Case; Trade Implications of the STAX Program for Cotton; Dairy Margin Protection; WTO U.S. Shrimp Dispute; Country of Origin Labeling; Britain Leaving the EU

Tentative class presentations (10 minutes in length) may be required, time permitting. Attendance at all presentations is required.

Homework:

There may be several homework assignments to assist learning. Homework must be turned in by the due date. Homework turned in after the due date will not be accepted.

Excused Absences and Late Assignment Policy:

The only acceptable excuses from class and exams are as follows:

- Medical emergency (ordinary doctor's visit is unacceptable; proper valid documentation justifying the excuse will be required).
- Eligible personal or professional commitment during class (e.g., field trip for another course; military duty; religious holidays; participation in official university activities; court-imposed legal obligations). Eligibility depends on the instructor's judgment; hence, prior permission is a must.
- Eligible family emergency (proper documentation/verification will be needed).
- All students are expected to submit assignments on their stated due dates. For University athletes, make-up assignments are only allowed when the assignment is missed due to official university sporting events pending ample WRITTEN notification in advance (at least 7 days prior). Club/recreational sports are not granted the same courtesy.

Proper valid documentation must be submitted no later than the first day you return to class. Simply emailing that you will not be in class does not count as valid documentation.

Should you experience a significant hardship/illness (e.g., diagnosis of a terminal/chronic disease of you or a close family member) during the semester that could negatively affect your performance in the course, you must inform the instructor as soon as possible for appropriate accommodations. Per UF policy, it is the student's responsibility to maintain satisfactory academic performance and attendance.

Grades and Grade Points:

Information on the current UF policies for assigning grade points is available online at the following website: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>

Final Grades:

Final grades will not be posted on the course website. Students may obtain their final course grade once grades have been posted by the University Registrar. The instructor will not respond to emails or other inquiries regarding grades between the final and when final grades are posted by the registrar.

Academic Honesty:

As a student at the University of Florida, you have committed yourself to uphold the Honor Code and UF pledge: "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity." You are expected to exhibit behavior consistent with this commitment. For all work submitted for credit at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

It is assumed you will complete all coursework independently unless the instructor provides explicit permission for you to collaborate on course tasks (e.g., assignments, papers, exams). Furthermore, as part of your obligation to uphold the Honor Code, you should report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. It is your individual responsibility to know and comply with all university policies and procedures regarding academic integrity and the Student Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code at the University of Florida will not be tolerated. Honor Code violations will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for consideration of disciplinary action. More information on the Student Honor Code is available online: <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code>.

Software Use:

All faculty, staff, and students of the university are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against university policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate.

Campus Resources:

Students experiencing crises or personal problems that interfere with their general well-being are encouraged to utilize UF counseling resources. The Counseling & Wellness Center provides confidential counseling services at no cost for currently enrolled students. On-campus resources are available for students having personal problems that interfere with their academic performance.

Student with Disabilities Act:

The Disability Resource Center coordinates the accommodations of students with disabilities, including registering disabilities, recommending academic accommodations within the classroom, accessing special adaptive computer equipment, providing interpretation services, and mediating faculty-student disability related issues. Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. Documentation will be given to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation [0001 Reid Hall, 352-392-8565, <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>]

Online Course Evaluation Process:

Student assessment of instruction is an important part of efforts to improve teaching and learning. At the end of the semester, students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course using a standard set of university and college criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open for students to complete during the last two or three weeks of the semester. Students will be notified of the specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations/ufl.edu/results>.
